CORNER STONE LAID FOR BOYS' SCHOOL

Erected by Church of the Immaculate Conception.

BISHOP DONAHUE OFFICIATED.

Five Thousand Persons Take Part in the Solemn and Impressive Ceremonies of the Catholic Church.
An Old and Worthy Institution Takes on a New Existence.

"In the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Ghost, Amen. O, Almighty God, who causest us to grow from the small to the great and dost make those great things perfect, bless this structure which we now dedicate to Thy honor under the name and title of the Immaculate Conception School for Boys. I duly pronounce and declare this foundation stone laid."

With these words Right Rev. P. J.
Donahue, Bishop of Wheeling, W. Va., yesterday formally laid the corner stone of the boys' school being erected by the parishioners of the Church of the Immaculate Conception in N street, near Eighteenth street.

Fully 5,000 persons participated in the exercises, which were performed with all the rites and ceremonies of the Roman Catholic Church. Led by the bishop and priests of that and other parishes of Washington, and other cities, the exercises began at 4 o'clock with a procession from the rectory to the gayly bedecked stand erected on the site of the new building.

In the procession were a majority of the men of the parish, and the delegates from the various Catholic cities of Washington.

Marine Band Played.
When the prelate came abreast of the stone, which hung ready to be dropped into position, the little band of clergymen halted while a section of the United States Marine Band played sacred airs.

As the chant of the vested chorists died away, Rev. Father Marr, pastor of the church, escorted the bishop to a position directly opposite the stone.
Here the customary prayers were read.
Bishop Donahue then sprinkled the block of granite with holy water, and offered incense.

With a trowel he then spread the cement on the large granite slab upon which the corner stone will repose, and when finished, gave the signal to let the block fall into place. The corner stone-laying being concluded, the procession moved into the stand, the participants occupying seats covering the entire platform.

The ceremonies attending the laying of the stone were impressive to a degree of solemnity. With the scent of incense filling the air, and with the strains of music, the bishop, in the presence of a not a sound to mar the sublimity of the occasion.

In taking his seat, the bishop removed his mitre and stoken robes, and laid his crosier aside. When all had been seated, his grace stepped to the rail facing the thoroughfare filled with people, and began his address, telling in eloquent terms of the progress made by the Catholic Church in its spread of Christian education, and forcibly bringing to the attention of his audience the import of the undertaking which had just been formally started.

The Bishop's Address.
After making a rapid survey of the efforts made in all the countries by the Catholic Church in the cause of education, the bishop said, in part: St. Mark, the interpreter and spiritual son of the Prince of the Apostles, went to Alexandria, A. D. and there formed the nucleus of the first Christian schools. Four centuries later the illustrious St.
Benedict, from the abbey of Monte Cassino, sent his rule, which became the basis of the monastic life.
The cloister of the sixth century beheld St. Augustine, sent by Pope Gregory, landing upon England's shores, and there, by his preaching, he converted the heathen. The universities of Oxford and Cambridge were later raised upon the ruins of the monasteries.
St. Ignatius of Loyola in the sixteenth century gathered about him a band of brothers, who converted the heathen in the Americas and the Indies.
Coming still nearer in time and place, George College was founded in 1763. The first public school opened the first free public school on June 12, 1799. Six years in advance of the first District public school. Religious communities came later in increasing numbers. There are now twenty-one Catholic parochial schools here, not to mention academies and other schools. The Catholic Church in this city is in a position of great strength.
The Catholic University of America is fresh in the memories of all. Its commanding influence is already felt throughout the Republic. The Catholic schools, thus bringing them into a harmonious and co-ordinated whole.

The bishop next sketched the history of the former school of the Immaculate Conception parish, saying:
The old school was begun October 10, 1864. With it went the venerable names of Father Walter, McCarthy, and Boyle will be forever connected.
The speaker accounted for the fact of the zeal for Christian education extending through all the centuries by the conviction of the Catholic Church that intellectual training does not suffice. He continued:
It is good as far as it goes. It does not go far enough. The heart of the child must be formed to think. He will, that awful power, discipline and strengthened. Ten minutes' Bible reading, or half an hour Sunday school will not suffice. Under such a regime the mind must inevitably stagnate. In this conviction Catholics are prepared to make any sacrifice. On this point they cannot yield. They perceive that the child must be trained in the habit of the sense of fair play inherent in the American people, and the gradual softening of the national spirituality will at some future day adjust these inequalities.

WILL DROP CASE, HOWEVER

Merchant Says His Family Has Been Mortified by Action of Young Man Who Pawned Mother's Earrings, and There Will Be No Prosecution on Account of Publicity.

Broken in health and spirit, Frank Hodgkin, seventeen years old, who ran away from his home, 1436 Irving street northwest, last Tuesday, was brought home yesterday by his father, C. E.
Hodgkin, a well-known local merchant.

Last night the father said that it is his belief and the belief of physicians that the boy was "doped" or drugged, and while in a state where he had no will power, was forced to take his mother's $1,000 diamond earrings and go to New York. Mr. Hodgkin holds the boy's com-pansions responsible for the use of the drugs.

The father said that out of consideration for the feelings of his family and himself the matter would be dropped and no effort would be made to prosecute the young man who is alleged to have run away with the boy. This man is said to be a member of a well-known family of Mount Pleasant.

Nerves Are Shattered.
At present young Hodgkin is under the care of a physician. His nerves are shattered and he is still suffering from the effects of the drug which it is believed was administered. His mind, however, is perfectly clear and he shows no traces whatever of insanity. His father believes, like the family physician, that the boy will be back to his normal condition within a week.

"This has been a very unfortunate affair," said Mr. Hodgkin last night. "It has caused the whole family great sorrow and mortification, and I don't wish any more publicity given the matter than can be helped. My boy is not insane.
He is just as clear as my mind now as he ever was—as clear as you or me. He is very nervous, however, and it will be several days before he will be able to get about."

"It is my opinion and that of physicians who have examined the boy," continued Mr. Hodgkin, "that he was drugged by companions, who had a plan to profit by his temporary loss of will power."

Wants It Forgotten.
"Rather than have any more publicity," said the father, "I will let the case drop.
I will not prosecute the man responsible for my boy's condition. I do this out of consideration for my family. I want the matter to be forgotten. That is all I have to say."

Young Hodgkin was lured from home by a man much older than himself, it is believed. He took a pair of diamond earrings belonging to his mother and pawnd them for $500. The jewels were recovered by the police.

Last Friday the boy was located in New York. His capture, which had caused the police to suspect that he was mentally irresponsible, and he was confined in the psychopathic ward in Bellevue Hospital. His father went to New York Saturday night, and returned with his son yesterday.

When taken in charge by the New York police, the boy was with a man who was not arrested or identified.

SERVICES IN THE PARKS.
Religious Exercises Held Under Y.
M. C. A. auspices.

Attended by large crowds, the open-air services held under the auspices of the Young Men's Christian Association at Franklin and Lincoln Parks yesterday were as successful as any similar exercises this season.

In his sermon at the Franklin Park meeting, Rev. George Bailey, pastor of the Western Presbyterian Church, addressed himself to the young men, and cited examples from Scripture applicable to everyday life.

A male chorus of twenty-five voices led the singing, under the leadership of J.
R. Decker.

Following the usual preliminary exercises of prayer and Bible reading, Rev.
Donald C. MacLeod, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, preached a masterful sermon on the subject of "The Work of the Christian in the World." He chose as his text the gospel of the day, and dilated on the importance of man working in harmony with God for the salvation of souls.

An orchestra of ten pieces and a mixed choir led in the singing.

HAD NARROW ESCAPE

Frederick Dyer Seized with Cramps in Lake.

MANY JOINED RESCUE PARTY

Grand Rush to Save Man Who Had Reputation of Being Expert Swimmer, and Some of the Spectators Were on the Verge of Hysteria.

Even the Victim Was Insuperable.

Seized with cramps while in swimming at Chevy Chase Lake yesterday, Frederick Dyer, of the city, narrowly escaped drowning before assistance reached him.

The affair occurred when the resort was crowded with pleasure seekers, and hundreds of persons were temporarily thrown into a state of intense excitement.

Near the spot where Dyer was stricken were a number of persons in rowboats, and these, with several of Dyer's com-pansions, who were also in bathing, frantically rushed to his aid. In the meantime the bridge overlooking the lake had become congested with excited men and women, many of whom became hysterical.

Where He Went Down.
The place where Dyer first went down is near the center of the lake, and is said to be about eighteen feet deep. When he called for help ten or twelve of the youths who had accompanied Dyer into the water thought he was fooling, and did not realize his predicament until he sank below the surface for the second time.
Immediately all put out for the spot where he had disappeared, and by the time his head appeared on the surface for the third time the crowd of bathers had been joined by several persons in row-boats, who assisted in rescuing the exhausted swimmer.

When his companions grabbed him, Dyer was in convulsions, and fought savagely to get a hold on Milton Boucher, one of the rescuers. He was subdued only after being knocked insensible by blows on the head. The work of getting him to shore was somewhat retarded, inasmuch as all the bathers were endeavoring to get hold of his limp body.

Once on the shore, near the boat landing, the work of resuscitation was begun, and in a short while Dyer recovered from the faint and was able to don his clothing.

Dyer is reputed to be an expert swimmer, and had been in the habit of going to the Maryland resort on Sunday in company with a number of other young men from the vicinity of Mount Pleasant.
The accident is the first of this nature that has occurred at Chevy Chase Lake this season.

In a Nervous State.
After getting drenched, Dyer, still in a nervous state, was escorted to his home.
He admitted his fear after being seized with a cramp in the right knee, and his companions deemed his escape from drowning remarkable. Because of the fact that he sank in the middle of the lake some distance from his friends.

Simon R. Gollibart, of 1822 Calvert street, and Milton J. Boucher, of 124 Columbia road, assisted in rescuing Dyer, and were aided in reviving him by L. H.
Green and H. C. Lamson.

Mrs. Logan Loses Check.
Mrs. John A. Logan, of Stoneleigh Court, reported to the police yesterday afternoon that while driving earlier in the day she lost a check for $50, made payable to herself. She said she believed the paper was lost between the Soldiers' Home and Park road.

UNEARTHED MONEY ROLL

Buried Savings Carried Away by Negro on Bicycle.

For a long time Daniel Nelson, fifteen years old, a negro, has had a desire to see the world. Yesterday he dug $12 from the ground under his father's henhouse, where his mother had buried it, and mounting a weather-beaten bicycle, started in the direction of Baltimore. This happened in the afternoon, and Daniel is still seeking adventures.
